

Employee Emergency Fund Application

Overview

The Employee Emergency Fund (EEF) provides financial assistance when employees are unable to meet immediate, essential expenses because of a temporary financial hardship (hardship.)

A hardship is an emergency event, not a pre-existing financial concern.

Examples of hardship include (but are not limited to):

- Death of a family or household member
- Serious illness or injury
- Loss of livable housing due to structural damages caused by fire or natural disaster
- Significant loss of household income affecting an employee's ability to pay for basic needs
- Medical expenses resulting from an accident

Eligibility

Employees must meet the following criteria to apply:

- Have a hardship due to an emergency
- Be an active employee in a non-student role
- Have full- or part-time benefits-eligible, continuous employment for at least 6 months prior to the application date
- Have an adjusted gross income of less than $50,000 for an individual or $100,000 or less for a couple filing jointly

Funding

- The maximum award amount per employee per calendar year is $1,000.
- Funds are counted as supplemental pay and subject to federal taxes.
